

take your business intentions add powerful ingredients

intention   clarity   engage   energy capacity   diversity   alignment action   potential   efficiency   strength awareness   skill   power

i   m   p   a   c   t

Combining a deep understanding of neuroscience, the science of the mind, with team and individual performance tools, MorrisCoaching builds upon awareness to enable each client an experience of heightened skills and powerful impact.

experience   powerful   ingredients – embody   powerful   performance!

My Leadership Coaching approach includes assessment and coaching on leadership skills, team engagement, stress management, cognitive (mental) abilities and peak human performance - i.e. achieving a state of flow. The programs I offer have accelerated the performance of leaders, business units and high end athletes alike.

With 20 years of experience in human performance, 3 years in the field of applying Neuroscience to leadership and 14 years in a leadership role, Steve Morris brings to the table both experience and a passion for performance. References available upon request